STRIKER CUSTOM
[RGM-79FC]

The Lightning Bolt of the Battlefield

Spark Knuckle

There are a few pieces of equipment that reflect Old Zeon technology equipped on the Striker Custom which were developed after the One Year War. Presented here is the Spark Knuckle. This weapon has an extremely short range but delivers a direct electrical attack to the enemy pilot and MS machinery. It was developed from heat rod technology. However, because this weapon requires a pilot to maneuver through his lack of bullets to initiate hand-to-hand combat, pilots skilled with this weapon are rare.

Dom Cannon Single-Barrel
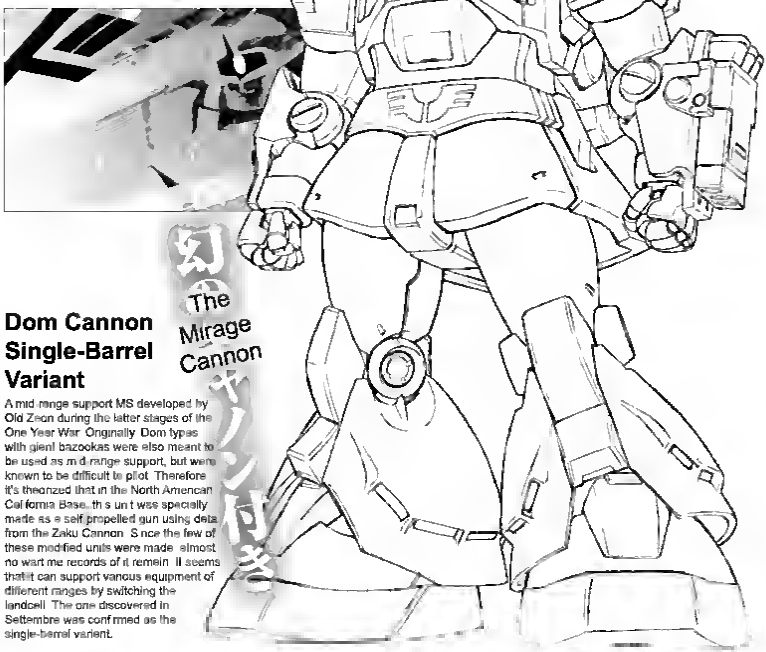
[MS-09K-1]



幻のThe Mirage Cannon キャノン付き

Dom Cannon Single-Barrel Variant

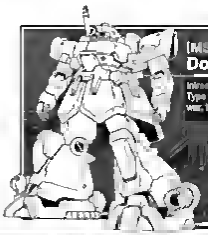
A mid-range support MS developed by Old Zeon during the latter stages of the One Year War. Originally Dom types with giant bazookas were also meant to be used as mid-range support, but were known to be difficult to pilot. Therefore it's theorized that in the North American California Base, this unit was specially made as a self-propelled gun using data from the Zaku Cannon. Since the few of these modified units were made almost no warfare records of it remain. It seems that it can support various equipment of different ranges by switching the landcell. The one discovered in Settembre was confirmed as the single-barrel variant.



[MS-09F/TROP]
Dom Tropen

Introduced late in the war. This Tropical Test Type was modified into the F-model. After the war, the Delaz Fleet was seen using this unit.

[YMS-09D]
Dom Tropical Test Type

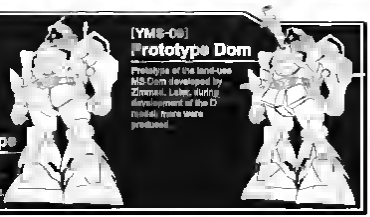
MS developed for tropical and desert environments. The tropical-use landcell and short-range antenna are its main characteristics. Deployed in the Albion Front.



[YMS-09]
Prototype Dom

Prototype of the land-use MS Dom developed by Zimmad. Later, during development of the D model, many were produced.

Beam Saber

開眼 Awakened 閃烈斬 Cut

Being equipped with various cutting weapons the Striker Custom is specialized for melee combat and is an anachronism of Old Zeon MS from the latter stages of the One Year War. There are two varieties of the beam saber. In addition to the Federation military standard cylindrical beam saber, the Striker Custom also has two that detach from the backpack. These two beam sabers have various hidden features.

Burst Knuckle

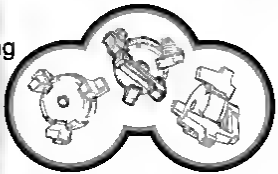
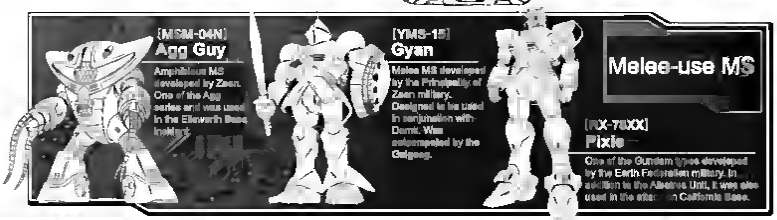
爆烈火拳

Exploding Fire Fist



Like the Spark Knuckle, the Burst Knuckle was made with Old Zeon technology. This technology was already being used for 8 months before MS-on-MS combat even became widespread in the latter stages of the war. Combat data had shown that applying bombs directly to the unit was fairly effective. Actually, even the legendary White Base unit ran into trouble with the Guaran and M'Quve units and their adhesive bombs. The Burst Knuckle was made from the technology used in the adhesive bomb and chain mine, and is detonated at the instant a punch connects. However, damage to one's own unit may occur if the manipulators aren't withdrawn quickly enough.



[MSM-04N]
Acguy

Amphibious MS developed by Zeon. One of the Agg series and was used in the Ellenwith Base training.

[YMS-15]
Gyan

Melee MS developed by the Principality of Zeon military. Designed to be used in conjunction with Dismi. Was superseded by the Galgaz.

Melee-use MS

Pixie

One of the Gundam types developed by the Earth Federation military. In addition to the Alaska Unit, it was also used in the other California Base.

Twin Beam Saber

The Twin Beam Saber is a melee weapon that has beams come out of both sides, like the Old Zeon weapon Twin Beam Sword (Beam Naginata). Originally, the Federation had the slight upper hand with beam saber technology. Unlike the Zeon counterpart, this weapon can be used even when partitioned. While the GP series was phased out this year, it's said that among them there is an MS with a beam gun and beam saber, as well as a beam rifle and beam jitte combined weapon.

GM Custom
[RGM-79N]

This unit was developed after the war with upgraded specs and was mostly deployed as an ace-only unit. It was developed at the Augusta base and manufactured in the Jaburo factories. The unit inherited technology from the Newtype unit RX-78NT-1 Alex and has very impressive all-around specs. The units deployed to the Albion Unit during the Dakaz Conflict are particularly famous. A mysterious GM Custom bearing the name of True Federal appeared in Mante Siletto and was attempting to recruit Commander Ittou after wiping out all the Zeon Remnants.
